

The Flames Of Love

Well once you were mine, but now you're gone
And I'm left here, baby, all alone
You thought that you could make me cry
But the flames of love will never die.

No the flames of love will never, never die
A spark will always remain
Ready to burst into flame again
No the flames of love will never, never die.

A little spark will start the glow
Add some tenderness and love
And soon before you know
It becomes a raging fire.

No the flames of love will never, never die
A spark will always remain
Ready to burst into flame again
No the flames of love will never, never die.
